

Sophie Davish Student Body Vice President

Sophie Davish, the current Student Body Vice President of the University of South Carolina, is a senior finance major with a minor in political science in the University of South Carolina Honors College.

She is originally from Chester Springs, Pennsylvania; a small town just outside Philadelphia. Eldest daughter to Patrick and Noreen Davish, she has one younger sister, Josephine.

While at the University of South Carolina, Sophie has been a member of a multitude of organizations. She joined Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority her freshman year, and became the Circle of Sisterhood delegate, working with a team of 13 delegates from other CPA sororities to raise over $60,000 and travel to Senegal in December 2018 to build a school, which was finally completed in June 2019.

She is also a member of Delta Kappa chi circle, and during her sophomore year, she served as a boards and commission intern for Governor Henry McMaster.

Sophie has also been a member of student government since freshman year, serving on the Legislative Action Network, Freshman Council Athletics committee, Student Finance committee. As a junior, she served as Chief of Staff to the 2018-2019 Student Body Vice President Mills Hayes, and was elected as the 2019-2020 Student Body Vice President.

Student Government
University of South Carolina